

Magnolia Broadband Blog - "Mobile Experts Forecasts 70 Million Small Cells to be shipped by 2017"

Posted by Administrator

Created on Thu 29 August 2013 09:59 - Last updated Thu 29 August 2013 10:03

Market research firm, Mobile Experts published a new forecast claiming that 70 million small cells will be shipped by 2017, including femtocells deployed by mobile operators and picocells used for high-capacity urban networks. LTE small cells are a major part of the forecast growth over the next five years, with more than two-thirds of small cells deployed in 2017 devoted to LTE-FDD or TD-LTE.