

Magnolia Broadband Blog - "ALU & QCOM Form Partnership in Developing Small Cell Technology"

Posted by Administrator

Created on Thu 19 September 2013 17:32 - Last updated Thu 19 September 2013 17:34

---

The small cell market is heating up as Alcatel-Lucent and Qualcomm Technologies have agreed to a partnership in developing small cell technology. Reuters reports the deal is worth approximately $133 million in research funding. The two companies plan to jointly invest in a strategic R&D program to develop the next generation of Alcatel-Lucent light Radio small cell products. The new units will feature Qualcomm Technologies' family of small cell chipsets.